AUTUMN CAROLYNN is a freelance travel writer and photographer based in Minneapolis, MN. Her love for exploring new places and cultures was born out of a semester abroad in England while completing her bachelor's degree in English Literature with an emphasis in Creative Writing. During that time, she got away for weekend backpacking trips with her trusty Nikon camera. She ended up visiting 13 countries that semester, but it was only the beginning.

Since then, Autumn has traveled to 30 countries, 48 states, and 6 continents. After college she worked as a flight attendant, and then as a travel agent and travel design manager. Her career path has allowed her to visit new places more easily, but her one true love will always be travel photography.

Autumn's work is available in formats such as matted prints, canvases, calendars, postcards, and more. You can find information on her upcoming exhibitions and read her travel blog at autumncarolynn.com
